Find the Paris of Your Dreams
with Vacations-Abroad.com

Atlanta (February 25) – Paris allures travelers with romantic stories of love and triumph throughout the ages. Whether looking to stroll the streets in the footsteps of Hemingway and Fitzgerald, rekindling love in the spring or exploring high fashion year around; the ideal Parisian holiday begins with lodging that will set a tone for a memorable holiday. Experts at Vacations-Abroad.com recommend travelers explore an abundance of accommodations with the unique Parisian style to create the vacation of their dreams.

“Travel is an opportunity to fulfill your desires and explore a new way of life. By staying in an authentic Parisian home or boutique hotel, visitors will fully drink in the culture and take home much more than a souvenir,” said Linda Jenkins, CEO of Vacations-Abroad.com.

Much like a fine wine, Paris has a rich bouquet of arrondissement each with a unique undertone found only in the Ile de France. When booking with Vacations-Abroad.com, guests can explore lodging that meets a wide palate of desired experiences and tastes.

Located in the shadows of the Arc de Triomphe, the Hotel Napoleon, is a study in classic Parisian style. Travelers can easily imagine sipping drinks with 1920s socialites in the hotel's Café Bivouac before retiring to the richly appointed guestrooms reminiscent of the Napoleon Era. The hotel has hosted notable celebrities from the era including Ernest Hemingway, Josephine Baker and John Steinbeck.

Hotel Le A Library

Travelers looking for the modern side of Paris may want to stroll past the Champs de Elysee to enter a ornate stone front and step into the chic the Hotel Le A. In the hotel's 26 guest rooms, travelers enjoy the latest technology and conveniences with much more than a touch of Parisian style. Equipped with a salon and bar, the Hotel Le A offers guests repose from the busy city where they can relax and recharge for their next adventure.

Private homes are an excellent choice for families or those desiring privacy while visiting Paris. Many of the homes are flats that combine the best of traditional and modern worlds that Parisians live with everyday. Imagine coming home to a classically styled 1870s building with parquet floors and Juliet balconies and relaxing in the privacy of contemporary furnishings before a stroll to the local market. There's no better way to try out the fantasy of moving to one of the most exciting cities in the world.
