Innovator, Entrepreneur and Travel Expert

I'm Linda Jenkins, an entrepreneur, innovator, travel expert and the founder of Vacations-Aboard.com.

More than anything in the world, I enjoy exploring cultures, destinations and immersing myself in unique experiences. My love of cultures began with a childhood spent in Maracaibo Venezuela, Mexico City Mexico, and Thames Ditton England. My wanderlust continued as an adult and I have had residences in Mill Valley California, Mont Tremblant Quebec Canada and St Augustine Florida. My natural inquisitiveness has taken me to Singapore, Belize, Guatemala, Morocco, France, Italy, and the Bahamas.

Prior to launching my business, I worked as a CPA in the real estate and oil and gas industries. One project I worked on was analyzing the software logic of the Property Tax Assessor with the City and County of San Francisco and San Mateo County in California. At the end of that project, I decided to take a big leap into the exploding internet market and started my own travel website.

The first system was simple html and was not database driven with only a handful of properties. Today, the site is a relational database, where individual property owners can enter details and photos about their property directly onto the website. The site has over 2000 properties listed in Africa, Asia, Europe, North America, South America and Asia.

Ultimately, all of my work is about providing top quality properties for people to enjoy during their travels.

Today, I search for unique vacation rentals, boutique hotels and quaint bed and breakfast that will provide vacationers with a memorable experience while on vacation. .

Happy Traveling;
Linda Jenkins
